—Alaska has 15,000 miles of shore line.

—Steamer day; State up, Oregon down.

—No. Two's heater is being repaired.

A first-class French funeral costs $8,000.

—The Yaquina is still at Captain Gray's dock.

—There are 1102 Masons in Washington Territory.

—There are 8,561 drinking houses in New York City.

—The New Orleans wharves are lighted by electricity.

—The Rosetta went to Skipsan in place of the Sam to-day.

—It cost $340,000,000 to run this government during 1881.

—The British bark Zoe arrived in Liverpool on the 28th ult.

—The aggregate tonnage of Puget Sound steamers is 4,850 tons.

—The Statesman denies that any cases of small pox exist in Salem.

—The blocking on which to build the new barge has been put in position.

—A series of weekly lectures on social science is being delivered in Portland.

—The weather yesterday morning was of that kind that tends to make water hard.

—The County Institute which meets to-morrow promises to be a very interesting affair.

—Henry Villard is going to put up a million-dollar house on Madison avenue, New York.

—Denver spent $4,150,000 in improvements during 1881. How much did Astoria spend?

—Delmonico, the famous restaurant man, is dead. He made a good secretary of the interior.

—The Folk County Itemizer is another paper that steals whole half column articles from this paper.

—D. P. Thompson left San Francisco yesterday morning for Washington, via the Southern Pacific.

—Experiments made with sugar beets in Whitman county result in a yield of 5000 pounds to the acre.

—There will be Union prayer meeting in the Young Men's rooms this evening at 7 o'clock. All cordially invited.

—Three American railroad lines are heading for the City of Mexico. The one that gets there first gets the most privileges.

—The fact that "Kiefer," the name of the new Speaker, means to scold, to chide, is instanced as being among the eternal fitness of things.

—The Big Bend of the Columbia, contains an area of land 80x100 miles in extent, as fine for agricultural purposes as any in Washington Territory.

—Territorial papers adversely criticize Gov. Newell for pardoning one McAllister, who, it is alleged, has violated the terms of the pardon by remaining in the Territory.

—Where shall the next Republican State convention be held, is a question now being discussed in our exchanges. In the second city of the State, in Astoria, would be a good place.

—The California Rural Press denounces the "Ozone" method of fruit preserving as an unmitigated fraud. It is advertised as the "King fortune maker" and is probably a catch-penny. The advertisement was sent to us some time ago by a snide firm and we refused to publish it.

Notice.

The regular annual meeting of Progressive Land and Building association will be held in Liberty hall, Astoria, Clatsop county, Oregon, on the 11th day of February, 1882. Wm. McEwan, Secy. Jan. 10, 1882.

Notice.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to me will please settle at the store of J. W. Gearhart or with me, by the 15th inst. Otherwise I shall place the accounts in the hands of an attorney for collection. FRED SHERMAN.

Teachers' Institute.

The exercises of the Teachers' Institute to be held in this city on the 12th and 13th inst. will consist of the following, subject to some changes if found necessary:

FIRST DAY.

Morning session—9:30 general conference, introduction of members, etc.; 10:30, organization; 11, reading, primary and other.

Afternoon session—1:30, grammar, composition, language lessons, etc.; 2:30, recess; 2:40, geography, mapping, penmanship; 3:40, citizenship.

Evening session—7, music, anthem, essays, recitations, music, lecture by Rev. Dr. Atkinson, addresses.

SECOND DAY.

Morning session—9:30, arithmetic, elementary and higher, essay; 10:30, recess; 10:40, school government.

Afternoon session—1:30, history, school furniture and apparatus, essay; 2:30, recess; 1:40, miscellaneous.

Evening session—7, music, recitations, addresses, lecture by Supt. L. J. Powell.

—An exchange thinks that there is no more fraud than there used to be in the good old times; the reason we hear of more is because the newspapers do detective duty and print the results.

—The Glanadam and Merwanjee Franjee had a close call yesterday morning; it looked as though a collision was inevitable, but the only injury was a bruised tailfin.

—We are in receipt of a very fine map of the department of the Columbia, and hardly know whom to thank for it; though M. C. George has been so courteous in the matter of reports and public documents that we believe he is the one.

—Verkoyansk, on the river Yana, in Siberia, is said to be the coldest place on earth, having a mean temperature of 48.6 degrees below zero centigrade. But it stays at that, and is not half as mean a temperature as one that vibrates between 100 degrees above and 25 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

—Recently Messrs S. Barker, C. Ethridge and an oysterman from Shoalwater bay rigged up a dredging apparatus at Olympia, and proceeding down the bay to deep water, commenced operations, and succeeded in finding some of the largest oysters yet found on the Sound.

—A prominent Ohio Democrat recently interviewed in Washington, says that either Jere Black or Senator Thurman on an anti-monopoly ticket would sweep this country like wildfire for the Presidency in 1884, and that Tilden and Field are out of the question, being everywhere known as monopolists and tools of corporations.

—Under the head of O. P. R. R. notes, the Albany Herald says: "Three engineering parties will commence surveying from Albany eastward within the next ten days. Seventy miles of steel rails, 1000 tons of fish-plates, bolts, etc., and six 36-ton railroad engines are now in San Francisco, awaiting shipment to Yaquina Bay.

—We notice that several vessels are on the way to Tacoma loaded with railroad iron, besides those which are on the way to Portland loaded in the same way. Would it not be well now to charter and load a few for Astoria? We understand vessels can be engaged to lead iron for Astoria at one dollar per ton less than to either Portland or Tacoma.

—Yesterday was a stormy day in Astoria; rain fell in torrents, fitful gleams of sunshine and sudden dashes of hail; wreaths of enveloping fog and squalls that turned umbrellas inside out; one party whose clothes were drying on the line noted the fact that so hard blow the wind that though it was raining yet the clothes were dried.

—The Circuit court was indeed a Circuit court yesterday in every sense of the word; going at first to Liberty hall, the court and all the dread attendants of justice adjourned to the Baptist church, where all day long witnesses were being examined in the Robeson case. The evidence has been published, and would not be interesting, though we understand it is intended to introduce one or two new witnesses to-day. Subpoenas were out last night for a fresh detachment.

Sherman Bros. Express

Will receive orders at the store of I. W. Case for upper Astoria or any other part of the city. Leave your orders on the state and they will be promptly attended to.

—There will be no skating this evening on account of the hall being occupied by court. Geo. Ross.

Left Handed.

Tis thus that a California exchange refers to a neighbor of ours: Tillamook county is a little province all to itself, far over the western hills and close by the sounding sea. We observe, first, that they have a reputation of being a law unto themselves, and that law a very loose one. It is alleged—but with how much truth this deponent saith not—that they have no jail, no church, no school-house, no grog shop, no county road, no court-house, no graveyard, and no use for one. Taxes are few and far between, and when they are collected it is alleged they are divided out among the office-holders with strict justice and even-handed impartiality. When a man gets too bad over there, about three-fourths of the county get together and arrest him; and if, upon trial, he is deemed worthy of conviction, he is solemnly incarcerated in the back room of somebody's woodshed, from whence he proceeds to break jail, and walks over to Salem and asks the Governor to pardon him out.

How Is It?

Why is it says some one who is posted, that some ladies can look so much more stylish on slim margins than others do on unlimited means? Why is it that a little trick of ribbon or lace will make some folks look as if they had just left the hands of the most fashionable modiste in town? It has been said that the tendency to take on education is hereditary; that children who come down through an educated stock are far more facile in education than the children of parents who are ignorant. This is doubtless true, as a rule, but there are certainly many exceptions to the rule. So, also, in regard to style and wit in matters of dress. It may be a matter of inherent taste to some extent, but it is also a matter that is cultivatable. There is real art in dress. The little trick of ribbon that looks as if it "happened" to be there may have been a matter of much thought and study, both as regards color and adjustment. Attention to detail, both in business and attire, tells the story of success. Without it there can be no success.

—An eminent Washington lawyer is "authority for the statement that Guiteau has at least a lease of life till next May even should he promptly be found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged. A legal authority says there is a statute in the district more or less ancient and somewhat awkward, directing that sentence of death shall not be executed until thirty days after beginning of the next term of court succeeding that at which sentence is pronounced. The argument will be closed to-day, and it is thought the case will go to the jury.

—At a meeting of the Portland Board of Trade last Monday night was made a verbal report from the special committee appointed to examine into the matter of establishing a signal station at Cape Hancock. Mr. Dodd stated that steamship captains were unanimous in giving Cape Hancock the preference over Tillamook rock, and that Lieut. Kilbourn would recommend the former place to Gen. Hazen. Toward the close of the meeting a statement that D. P. Thompson would visit Philadelphia to find the cost of two new tugs for Columbia bay towing occasioned considerable discussion, the general verdict being that a company should be organized in Portland to conduct a towing business. The matter was referred to a committee.

Attention! Attention!

All those indebted to the Central Market will please call and pay their accounts before the 15th of January, 1882. By so doing they will oblige and save costs. Those that do not comply with this request, their accounts will be closed. J. ROGERS.

Signal Service.

At a recent meeting of the San Francisco Horticultural Society, a communication was read from General Hazen, chief of the signal service bureau, and the following reply was transmitted: "On account of the peculiar climatic changes of this coast, we think a separate department of weather forecasts for this coast must be established before any special benefit can be derived from the signal service department. We notice with extreme pleasure your expressed intention to establish a special branch of the department on this coast for the forecasting of the weather for the Pacific States and Territories. We think a greater number of stations are needed, especially in the northern part of this State, also in Oregon and Washington Territory, for from those parts our stormy weather comes, and heretofore the reports have been very unreliable. If we could get information twenty-four hours ahead of rain storms thousands of dollars would be saved to our raisin-growers alone. The early fall rains seriously damage the quality of this product, and if continued several days destroys it altogether, but if a few hours' notice could be given of rain the trays could be covered up, and the crop saved until the rain is past. With more stations on the coast and a central office at San Francisco to distribute news to all parts of the State at the expense of interested parties, would be of great value to the fruit dryers. Weather indications for the country west of the Mississippi would be of great value to the wholesale shippers of fruit and produce from Sacramento. If the indications could be given seventy-two hours ahead it would enable the shippers to put down the fruit in much better condition and at lower prices than at present. We shall request our representative in Congress, Hon. H. E. Page, Chairman of the committee on commerce, to instruct our other representatives to endeavor to obtain a special appropriation for the signal service on this coast."

Noble Young Man.

There was a noble youth, says the Post, who, on being urged to take wine at the table of a famous statesman in Washington, had the moral courage to refuse. He was a poor young man, just beginning the struggle of life. "Not take a glass of wine!" said the great statesman, in wonderment and surprise. "Not one single glass of wine?" echoed the statesman's beautiful and fascinating wife. "No," replied the youth, resolutely, gently repelling the proffered glass. What a picture of moral grandeur was that! A friendless youth refusing wine at the table of a wealthy and famous statesman, even though proffered by the hands of a beautiful lady. "No," said the noble young man, his voice trembling a little and his cheek flushed, "I never drink wine, but (here he straightened himself up, and his words grew firmer) if you have a little good old rye whiskey I don't mind trying a snifter!"
